* For simplification reinvestment of accumulated cash from dividends in fractional shares is shown as occurring "manually" at the closing price on the 1st trading day of the next year. In reality if the reinvestment were done "manually" funds would have to be added to purchase whole shares. However, certain brokers do facilitate the automatic reinvestment of dividends in fractional shares. In reality had that been done because of lower prices when certain dividends were issued and reinvested the total amount of shares held at 4/17/2014 would probably have been greater than the 138.2550 shown.
